DC Talk Wins Big at First Annual America's Christian Music Awards

THE FIRST ANNUAL America's Christian Music Awards capped off weekend one of Walt Disney World's annual Night of Joy event. The awards show was taped September 12 on an elaborate set at the Indiana Jones Stunt Theater at MGM Studios/WDW in Orlando and aired on The Family Channel last night (Sept. 18) with hosts Michael W. Smith and DC Talk.

Opening the show was Steven Curtis Chapman performing "King of the Jungle" from his latest album, Heaven in the Real World. Other live performances were given by both hosts as well as Cindy Morgan, Newsboys and Gary Chapman. Michael W. Smith closed out the show with "Love One Another," while co-hosts DC Talk surprised many in attendance with special guest Larry Norman as the foursome performed the classic "I Wish We'd All Been Ready."

DC Talk's Toby McKeehan said, "Larry is obviously a legend in our time, the first true rock 'n' roller in Christian music. Mike and I likened [tonight's performance] to when Neil Young came out with Pearl Jam."

Norman, who's been known to be a critic of the industry as a whole, was asked about his role in this awards show. "[DC Talk is] fun to be with. This [show] is just goofing around and saying, 'I really love your music.' It's just people acknowledging one another. The industry doesn't bother me anymore. Maybe it should, but I'm out of touch with it."

Artists who taped performances earlier in the week throughout the Walt Disney World theme parks for the broadcast included Twila Paris, East to West, Pam Thum, Geoff Moore & The Distance, Point of Grace, East to West, Michael Sweet, Guardian, Petra, Legend Seven, White Heart, and Clay Crosse.

Olympic bronze medal decathlete Dave Johnson, who has also recently written the autobiographical Aim High on Zondervan. Johnson said, "Christian music is something that's really important in my life, and I really enjoyed [being a part of the awards show]."

Other presenters included taped presentations from Cassidy Rae of the Fox network show "Models, Inc.," Jon Brennan of MTV's "The Real World" and Zachery Ty Bryan of ABC's "Home Improvement" as well as a live presentation from Christopher Castile of ABC's "Step by Step" and the feature

Curb to Enter Christian Market Label Signs Michael English to Pop Deal

NASHVILLE-BASED Curb Records, home to country stars Wynonna, Sawyer Brown, Lyle Lovett and Tim McGraw among others, has broadened its scope to add both Christian and pop divisions to the growing label. According to Christian division Vice President Claire West (formerly with Geffen Records), the first signees to the Christian branch of Curb are White Heart and Jonathan Pierce (also known as Jonathan Hildreth formerly of the Imperials) while the pop side has recently signed an agreement with former Warner Alliance artist Michael English.

"The Christian division is a division of Curb Records, not a separate label," said West. "We wanted the artists who decided that they wanted to be committed to Christian music to have the same benefits, privileges, marketing budgets, etc. that were available to any Curb artist, be that Wynonna, Tim McGraw, Lyle Lovett or whoever."

West added that the new entree into Christian music is a perfect fit for the company, especially considering label head Mike Curb's history. "Christian music works for Curb Records because Mike Curb is a Christian, and the company is predominantly Christian. It's in line with the morals, the standards and ideas of what Mike built his own company on. It makes sense.

"I think a lot of people aren't aware of Mike's background in Christian music. Mike actually had a band in the early '70s which recorded Christian music, and he produced and put out Debby Boone's film, Beethoven. Various youth groups and fans announced the names of the nominees for several categories, and former "Facts of Life" star Kim Fields sent her greetings as well.

An emotional point in the evening was the presentation by Amy Grant of an "impact award" to Michael W. and Debbie Smith for the "immeasurable impact and enduring influence of their song 'Friends.' So powerfully describing friendship under our one Father and first and greatest friend." The annual award will hereafter be known as the Friends Award. "I don't know what to say," said the emotional Smith. "It's really overwhelming. When we wrote that song, I had no idea I would still be singing it 12 years later... I don't get tired of singing that song."

Big winners of the evening were the four times honored DC Talk. "I don't think God orchestrates us getting awards," said Michael Tait. "The awards really don't matter. When we die, they're not going with us. What we do for God is what counts." Added McKeehan, "We always thought we could do alright if the people could choose. Not in a cocky way, but it's the kids who come to the shows who we feel we can relate to."

On winning Favorite Rock Artist Group/Duo as well as Favorite Rock CD, Petra's Ronny Cates said, "This means a lot to come from the people. Every year we keep thinking, 'What can we do that will challenge the people?' To know that they still love it, that's important."

"It's the first time we have ever done [a fan-voted awards show] so that makes it very special," said Steven Curtis Chapman. "With this you're building a whole new animal, but I've really sensed the spirit of the whole thing has been so refreshing and encouraging. The people who are here tonight are more than just industry people. The people here are excited about this message."

Produced by Bob Gordon and co-produced by Dan Johnson, the broadcast was sponsored by Columbia House and

The Parable Group. Contemporary Christian Music Week (a series of week-long events which included the awards show, two morning youth rally worship services and a charity golf tournament) was created and produced by Steve Gilreath of Steve Gilreath Productions (producers of "CCM-TV") and centered around Disney's annual Night of Joy.

The following is a complete list of winners: Favorite Male Artist—Steven Curtis Chapman; Favorite Female Artist—Amy Grant; Favorite New Artist—Point of Grace; Favorite Pop CD—Free at Last, DC Talk; Favorite Rock CD—Wake Up Call, Petra; Favorite Pop Group/Duo—DC Talk; Favorite Rock Group/Duo—Petra; Favorite Short Form Video—"Jesus is Just Alright," DC Talk; Favorite Long Form Video—Addicted to Jesus, Carman; Favorite Live Concert—DC Talk; Favorite Local Christian Radio Station—KLTY-FM/Dallas, Texas; Favorite Local Christian Video Show—"Joyful Noise," Huntsville, Alabama.

'You Light Up My Life,' which was very obviously a Christian single. He's always had some sort of presence in Christian music, and in fact, originally signed The Judds as a contemporary Christian act."

The division's first release will be the upcoming White Heart album, scheduled for an early summer 1995 release. Jonathan Pierce will also have a new album out next year, but a release date has not been set. As both albums will be marketed to both mainstream and Christian markets, Curb is currently in the process of choosing a CBA distributor.

Curb will be switching its mainstream distribution from CEMA to WEA through The Atlantic Group at the beginning of the year. English has been signed to a solo pop deal to be distributed to the mainstream market though no release date has been set.

"We decided to sign Michael English based on the fact that we thought he was incredibly talented," said West. "We think as Christians that we don't have the right to judge anyone for their behavior. We believe that Christians forgive. People make mistakes. It does not delete their ability to help other people. We simply saw this as an opportunity for Michael to be in a place where he was 100 percent believed in and supported and encouraged, and hopefully surround him in an environment that will help him heal. If Michael makes the decision that he wants to continue to release in the Christian market, then we will absolutely honor that. I think that he has been completely encouraged by the level of support he has received from a lot of industry people and 80-85 percent of his fans. We're extremely excited about Michael."

As far as the Christian division is concerned, West said she believes that the bigger budgets Curb has to offer will promote the industry as a whole by presenting quality Christian albums and extensive retail/media exposure that can viably compete with the mainstream.

"I think the most important thing to us as a label is that the Christian market doesn't see us as trying to carpetbag in this industry. We're trying to do something because there is a belief in and a desire to support the industry... The average marketing money we're going to spend will be a minimum of over $100,000 per record and over $50,000 per video. A lot of the reason the mainstream market has been resistant to playing Christian music is not due to the lyrical content. It's due to the fact that the quality of the production of some of the music does not measure up."

West added that providing better production and marketing budgets for artists is only part of her goal with the new division—she wants to see the Christian message reach a much broader audience.

"If Jesus told us to go forth unto the world, then we'd better get going. I don't think that Christian artists are incapable of functioning in the mainstream world. We're not going to limit anything that an artist does. The idea is to get the music to as many people as we can especially when the message in the music pertains to God."
